Bedroom (A2)

Thomas and Lydia are fraternal twins, and they share a bedroom. Upon opening their bedroom door, it’s clear that the children have decorated each side based on their personal interests. Each side of the room has a bed, desk, chair, bookshelf, small bedside tables, and a dresser. There is about 10 feet of open floor space between each child’s side of the room.

The walls in the room are painted a neutral shade of blue. The floors are made of hardwood, but each child has a small rug next to his or her bed. In the middle of the back wall, there is a large window with a lot of sunlight and a direct view of their backyard. They love keeping the curtains open to let the sunlight in.

Thomas likes learning about outer space. On the wall, he has a poster of an astronaut, and on the ceiling he has placed plastic stars that glow in the dark when the lights are turned off. On the small table next to his bed, he has a lamp, shaped like a rocket ship, right behind his alarm clock. Thomas has a lot of toys related to science and space. He usually puts them in a toy box under his bed. Lydia does not like when Thomas's toys are out on the floor.

Lydia occupies the side of the room opposite from Thomas's side. Lydia prefers ballerinas, so so she has a picture of a famous dancer above her desk. Her walls are decorated with small stamps that resemble flowers. In front of Lydia's bed, she has a small trunk in which she stores her extra clothes. Lydia also keeps a lot of pens and art supplies on her desk because she likes to draw.
